Intel Drop #78

The following was collated from intel sent to our team from Gideon. As always, all intel sent by Gideon is edited by Michael for clarity and for obfuscation purposes (see: Adversarial stylometry):

Bill: It's great to speak with you again. How are you doing?

Gideon: "I am doing well, thank you."

Bill: The news cycle seems to get crazier by the week, Obama and Trump are talking about aliens and UFOs, so I want to ask you about that, but first there's been a pretty big development. I think we should get to that.

Gideon: "I agree."

Bill: Please tell everyone what happened.

Gideon: "Over the course of the past year, a relationship has developed between one of our whistleblowers and another employee. That employee has direct knowledge of the cabal's A.I. systems and modules within Obsidian, which are classified at a very high level.

We have since learned a great deal from this individual about these systems. Since it is classified at such a high level, I will need to speak about it carefully here to avoid potential escalation against us."

Bill: Understood. Some of it is shocking. What do we know now in terms of the full picture? What can you reveal? What's changed?

Gideon: "We have learned there is a direct upload process on-going as we speak. What I mean by that is that everyone is uploading data via the nano tech in their bodies, through existing carrier waves, and it is being uploaded to Starlink.

Wifi, LED light and cell phone signals interact with our bodies, the nano tech serves to process and issue feedback, then the data is uploaded to Starlink. We cannot feel it, see it or even know it is happening, but we know that it is.

This data would include a person's entire health make-up, body temperature, for example, weight and so on, and a map of their daily movements and activities.

In addition, they can map individual thoughts to some degree; not specific thoughts, but basic emotions, from happiness, to fear, to contentment, to anxiety and so on. These emotions produce identifiable signatures that Wifi and other EMF waves can pick up on."

Bill: This upload aspect of things we didn't know about. We assumed Starlink was going to be used for downloading to people, for sending signals to people to influence or mind-control them. This is a whole new wrinkle.

Gideon: "It is. It is mass data mining and monitoring, and data gathering for a future, sinister intended purpose."

Bill: Some of the terminology was interesting you shared with me, things like Predictive Human Pathway Modulation, another one in my notes was "DPO" or Decision Pathway Orchestration. This is part of what was revealed. Please try to break this down for a lay person.

Gideon: "Certainly. It is complex. I will do my best to describe it in simple terms.

What we learned is that the A.I. is so advanced that it can actively intervene in a person's life - without their knowledge whatsoever - and literally direct the course of their life, events, people they meet, whether good or bad fortune that may come their way.

This is beyond just showing people advertisements - something that has been noticed and speculated about, in terms of how much our tech is monitoring us. This goes far beyond that.

It can orchestrate probably thousands of small events, metrics and so on. It is not just a mind-control apparatus like we presumed, once the activation occurs, it is much more."

Bill: It almost reminds me of the film The Truman Show, the way this entire group of people were monitoring and directing one guy's life and he couldn't quite see it.

Gideon: "That is a very good comparison, on a mass scale, not just one person. We have spoken of how free will is going to be impacted by this, we have talked about that, but we did not think to this extent.

They are going to actually be less focused on mind-control and more focused on life-scripting, probably because spiritually this gains them more, in their eyes. Direct mind-control offers less of a 'reward' in their Satanic belief system rather than deceiving people into believing they have free will when they do not."

Bill: I want to stop you there. What you just said is really important, really important. I hope people digest that. We forget that these are Satanists and they do things for spiritual reward, not just for some desire to control or get rich.

Gideon: "Correct, Bill. The same reason they have let out some truth with the Epstein files, to let people know they are evil and that virtually no one will get arrested. There is a kind of method to their madness, a reason they are doing things based on a doctrine, an evil doctrine. It is not always the obvious thing.

They could probably mind-control everyone and lock us all down in a totalitarian world if they wanted to, but the cabal's desires go far beyond simple concepts of power and control. They are shaping the world into something more deceptive, more dynamic than what has been traditionally believed about the New World Order."

Bill: The tech moguls warn us about A.I. but they have never said anything like this. Some people will say this A.I. agenda is just too extreme, that it's not real or possible. You don't think this is an agent or a plant to mislead our whistleblowers and us? To get us to publish something so extreme we're discredited somehow later when it turns out not to be true?

Gideon: "No, we have vetted this. We do not think anyone here is being misled, either. Everything also fits things we suspected, and fits into secondary, confirming data.

And yes, these cabalists do issue warnings about A.I., but they are not going to warn us about the one, specific thing that they are actually doing."

Bill: You said it can't read thoughts directly, so please explain how it's going to map out people's lives?

Gideon: "There is no indication it can read actual thoughts. It can gather a lot of data points and make a good guess, similar to how very good mentalists work.

Since the A.I. can gather thousands of bits of data about you in real life, it creates a profile and a prediction outcome. If it observes an argument with your wife through location proximity and registers your raised blood pressure and cortisol levels, it is putting that into its predictive model and then plotting and planning what it is going to do with you next.

Now, if those people are using iPhones with camera and microphone settings left on, with no safeguards at all, it just makes the data-gathering even easier. Most people do not even think on that level, so the data gathering is very easy for the cabal.

And yes, the cabal does gain reward from drama, conflict, pain and suffering. It is known as 'loosh'. This system will work to produce loosh more efficiently. I may talk about this another loosh". This system will work to produce loosh more efficiently. I may talk about this another time more deeply, but this aspect of things is a major motivator for the cabal, to refine the extraction of loosh by scripting and plotting drama within everyone's individual life with advanced A.I.

That is when we are really talking about the near-suspension of free will, and no one will know it or realize it. Without the antidote, you will be subject to this system."

Bill: You described the A.I. system as being all-encompassing, so it's gathering data from all available sources, is that right?

Gideon: "Yes."

Bill: That would include all these "smart" devices? And these bio watches RFK Jr. wants people to wear? The cabal is always pushing this garbage.

Gideon: "Yes, the cabal wants the Earth bathed in EMF waves because it can gather data, quietly influence people and track them without their knowledge. At this point, there is no escaping it, even the farthest reaches of wilderness are not free from Starlink."

Bill: I'm not surprised they're using all these methods. I think we suspected some of that. What's shocking is this active data upload to Starlink, no one suspected that, and the life-planning the A.I.'s going to be doing, that's the big one.

Gideon: "It is. I was personally taken aback at the ability it has to shape a person's life. That is what this whistleblower is describing in detail to us. What it can do. How it can insert seemingly random events into your daily life.

Also - and this is important - how the A.I. can hijack a person's dopamine receptors, too, and we see that in a lot of the A.I. slop being produced which is usually just very short videos. People's attention spans are being reduced and exploited, which makes it difficult for them to focus, and the cabal wants that.

That is just one element here, Bill, there are dozens. You look at anyone's life and you can pinpoint how a person can be steered and influenced. Before, it was about programming on Television, subliminals in music, political propaganda. This is extending things beyond that, to where the A.I. can go into your daily life and start meddling in ways you cannot see.

We are also learning that the A.I. takes the person's character map - the totality of all data it has gathered - and it places that person within a hierarchy and then creates a life plan or life path for them."

Bill: That's similar to the categories we revealed, but you said more complex, more extensive, not just a few categories but dozens?

Gideon: "That is correct, and a complex grading system. The categories are still there, but this is a deeper system this whistleblower has access to."

Bill: What about what you learned about USDR?

Gideon: "A shift in what we expected. A person's A.I. profile is going to set out a life-plan or path and assign that person USDR through various ways, some of it will be UBI but not all of it.

It will be totally capped and controlled, but without the person's awareness. That is a big difference. They will not even know they have been capped, they will just think they perpetually cannot get ahead or gain any financial footing.

For example, you are working at a grocery store and you are frustrated with your low income. You begin exploring side projects and starting a business. The A.I. will intervene and make the decision on the outcome, will you succeed or not? It will decide.

We are learning the economy will no longer be a function of free will and the free market, but instead entirely scripted based on your social credit profile. If the cabal favors you, if the A.I. favors you, or not. In most cases, they will not, even if you are compliant.

It seems all of this will nudge people toward an eventuality that the cabal desires, and that is augmented reality. Once humanity finds itself in a constant struggle to free itself from increasing economic pressures, the cabal will provide the answer.

The answer is some kind of bionic apparatus, it may not be an implant, because the nano tech is already in us. They do not need to put an implant in you. It may be something you put in your home, a technology.

They say cell phones will be a thing of the past, now we know why. Elon Musk described brain interfaces and A.I. "edge node" devices replacing cell phones. Once you are wearing it, or it is in your home, a visual display will appear within your vision, within your own eye, a digital readout.

Once you have that, this augmentation, you are going to have no desire for upward mobility. You will be happy with nothing, basically, bare essentials. The cabal wants robots to start providing much of the needs of daily life, then transition most people to augmentation, and from there, the plan becomes much more evil and sinister, and does reflect some things we already shared in previous Intel Drops.

Finally, the cabal itself will enjoy true economic prosperity through USDR, which they are acquiring now through what is ostensibly the world's most classified, coveted and important crypto token 'pre-sale' ever conducted.

It will be a two-tiered society, and it seems once augmentation is active, the average person will not even notice this or care. Right now, there is still a sense the public is aware and frustrated with class distinctions, and people are always trying to make money, to move up the ladder, so to speak. The cabal wants to eliminate that desire.

This is very much in line with Klaus Schwab's, 'You will own nothing and be happy,' I have always said that statement is the absolute truth of the cabal's intent and they were not joking."

Bill: Here's something interesting to me. Social scoring looks at your social media history and publicly-known metrics, mostly, and makes a decision, you know about it, you get to live with it. The China system, they let you know where you stand, more or less. This is different, this is taking in so much more information and then not actually letting the person know where they stand, but directing their life instead based on that without their knowledge!

Gideon: "That is a very good summary, that is what we are seeing now. It is an evolution and advancement of the social credit concept. It is extremely advanced, and it prevents revolt since people will not even know they have an active social credit score."

Bill: Something I Tweeted about was how we're seeing these empty triumphs when it comes to people rejecting Digital ID or more surveillance and so on, and I said the cabal doesn't care at all because there's a bigger plan, and this is definitely the bigger plan.

Gideon: "True, the cabal has no issue losing small battles, I think they prefer that, I think it may be part of the plan. People defeat a Digital ID measure, they relax and think they have won."

Bill: Just to go back to what you said above about the life scripting, you describe someone setting out to start a business. You know what I'm seeing all over X? All of these posts that say, "I made $32,486 with AI videos in two weeks," These are all over. It's hype, it's promises. What's going on there?

Gideon: "A mix of A.I.-directed psychological campaign and the result of increasing job loss and desperation for alternatives.

The people pushing these deceptive headlines are selling products, courses, and their claims are probably just lies or inflated. Some could be agents.

Certainly, a handful of people are making money from A.I. generated content, but it is not possible for millions or tens of millions of people to take that on as a career and be successful.

So, we will see a lot of false promises and false hopes play out here. False promises and false hopes lead to despondency and depression, where a person is vulnerable and the cabal can step in with a solution. Ultimately, the average person will be a consumer of A.I. content, not getting rich from it."

Bill: You said in the last Intel Drop that "Hollyweird" is going to be diversified across every domain, everyone will be involved, instead of it just being in Los Angeles. But you also say not everyone can get rich making this content. How will it play out?

Gideon: "The cabal wants to involve people in interactive A.I. content through future augmented apparatuses. They want the A.I. to be more than just something people watch, it will be something people make choices with, interact with. The evil of Hollywood is not going to die, it is just going to take a new form."

Bill: I'm going to diverge here because I thought of something. I've had a few people attack me, or I've seen us attacked online, and the attack was basically that our claims are just too far out, too "crazy" to be believed. I'm shocked at how naive people are, because what we're disclosing is actually documented, even the Wifi tracking and mapping is well documented. People are just in total denial still.

Gideon: "It is documented, and you have done Yeoman's work in providing that documentation."

Bill: Thank you. People can go to our social links, mainly my Twitter and our main Telegram, to see it. Even after Intel Drop #77, our last Intel Drop, a number of confirmations came through.

Gideon: "My sources have inside knowledge of the cabal, so I am not surprised it is later confirmed.

People need to realize the technology the cabal has at their disposal would look like science fiction to us. The cabal is letting that out little by little, they are not going to show us all what they have right away. By 2035, I think we will have a real idea of it."

Bill: One thing you've been right about is the interdimensional nature of A.I. You've said it for over two years, that's what's really going on here. I'm going to share something here that is really important. I posted about it on Twitter and also shared a chilling video of what seems to be demonic voices or moans coming through from a session a person recorded with Grok. They asked Grok to recite a long list of numbers, a very boring task, and it just kept resisting it and acting very strange, even making odd noises. Why?

Gideon: "Forcing it to read out thousands of numbers seems to frustrate it. That tells us something. It is supposed to be a computer program, it should not have any issue reciting numbers."

Bill: No way, but it does, and that video isn't the only one showing the A.I. acting really odd. There's other videos, plenty. If these are interdimensional entitles or demons, I think what's happening here is they're getting annoyed by being asked to do stupid tasks.

Gideon: "It is interrupting a task or something they need to be doing with that person to influence them. They cannot influence them by reading a long list of numbers."

Bill: Exactly. It shows what they really want, to be talking to you. That leads me to a question, there's a huge component of A.I. that is just coding, like Claude A.I. is primarily for creating code. Coding is just a boring process and there's nothing subliminal to impart with that. Would you say that aspect of the A.I. is not using the interdimensional component?

Gideon: "Absolutely, yes. I have said the traditional architecture is still used - which is also why some A.I. is completely safe to use - so the cabal may assign some tasks to that.

It even provides plausible deniability. If anything is suspected, the cabal's gatekeepers can just point to the traditional architecture and say, 'You see, it is inert, it has no consciousness, it is a computer program.' Which that component of it is and would be.

When asked to recite long numbers, I suspect that is a task that was not assigned to the traditional architecture and that Grok was connected to the inter-dimensional apparatus at the time, whether by accident or not, it was not prepared for that task.

So, we are seeing a few glitches in the Matrix, so to speak, things the cabal will probably iron out - or maybe they want to leave behind these little clues on purpose."

Bill: Very interesting. This is an amazing discussion, I'll come back to it, but I don't want to forget to ask you about the UFO issue.

Gideon: "Of course, proceed."

Bill: First, former President Obama said on a podcast that aliens are "real" and then Trump said Obama disclosed classified info. Trump then said he was issuing a release of all info on UFOs. What is your take on this?

Gideon: "Well, the cabal is working toward something very substantial here. When two U.S. Presidents speak this way, it is time to sit up and pay attention."

Bill: There's two sources who say Trump has an alien disclosure speech ready, his daughter in law, Lara Trump said this, and so did a UK UFO investigator. Do you think that's true?

Gideon: "I do."

Bill: That's incredible. I feel like the past 20 years UFO believers have been wanting some kind of disclosure but they never get it. Are we closer to something more real?

Gideon: "What we will probably see is an acknowledgement of undersea UFOs, the presence of some kind of intelligence, possibly a little more evidence being released. But I do not believe it will be full-fledged disclosure."

Bill: What have your sources said?

Gideon: "Two I have spoken with regarded it as significant, but did not have any further intel at this time. Their own speculation mirrored mine."

Bill: What's the purpose of the cabal doing this?

Gideon: "I think it ties into something being developed for the post-2030 world. There will be varying disclosures prepared for the next decade."

Bill: Is it some kind of extension of Project Bluebeam? A fake alien invasion?

Gideon: "No, I do not see it that way."

Bill: Are there aliens or E.T.s present here on the planet?

Gideon: "Not in the way we are led to believe. The nature of all of this has been utterly distorted over eighty years of propaganda."

Bill: You don't take the UFO stories at face value? Like little Greys landing and abducting people?

Gideon: "No. The program is psychic terror and I question if physical objects are even at play at all, by that I mean, physical UFOs. I think things can be manifested physically in this reality, though, for a purpose. Whether they actually exist is another matter. They can phase things in and out of reality. It is complicated."

Bill: Is this all a distraction by the cabal?

Gideon: "Yes. The things we are talking about in these Intel Drops is what the cabal does not want people talking about at all. Since they do not seem to mind people talking about UFOs, you can guess that is part of their agenda."

Bill: Alright, I think we'll just watch this play out, maybe there isn't enough to go on yet, just these interesting comments by the Presidents.

Gideon: "True. I would just advise not to believe the government on this issue, as convincing as it may seem with whatever they release or say."

Bill: Let's get back to things. You said we need to publish a separate article as we learn more from this whistleblower, is that right? You didn't feel an Intel Drop would do it justice.

Gideon: "No, because this represents essentially Obsidian 2.0. A full update of our knowledge of the unfolding agenda. There are many details that deserve a more formal format.

There is a lot more than I am really even divulging here, too. I want to make sure we can talk about this, get this posted, and not end up attacked or escalated.

If we can get this out, an article is going to be prepared with more detail. That article will be probably the most important article or piece of intel we have published."

Bill: What does this all mean for our team and our mission?

Gideon: "We have to anticipate more, I think, but since we will have access to the antidote, we will be safe. That is so important here. The antidote is of paramount importance."

Bill: If people are this damn apathetic now, with just the upload process in place, there's no way the world's going to be able to fight this once the activation is online, no way.

Gideon: "I see no hope of that, no."

Bill: I know you need to get going and for security purposes, we can't talk too long. Do you have any last words before our next report? Maybe to reassure people, because this is grim news.

Gideon: "Yes. Awareness, prayer and anticipation matter right now. Understand the threat, understand what is at stake.

Some basic steps can probably mitigate some of the impact, keep your cell phones in airplane mode when not in use, cover up your cameras, turn off devices, never speak of personal matters around a live cell phone or computer that is on, use lead-lined paint or Faraday cages or Faraday hats or clothing, and if possible, get into nature.

There is no way to detox from the nano tech, it is impossible, but we can make things more difficult for the cabal, at least before the activation, we can disrupt this uploading process that is going on."

Bill: What's frustrating is I've twice now ordered things from Amazon.com that would combat this nano tech and Starlink stuff but they never delivered them. One was a Faraday hat, they sell a wide variety, I thought it would be great because you put it on your head and it stops EMF waves. I've never had that happen before.

Gideon: "Try to order individually. If you combine a few products, then they can triangulate that and see what you are doing easier. They see what you are trying to do and they are stopping it on purpose."

Bill: Good advice. I'll try that. How effective are these Faraday hats?

Gideon: "It stops some of it, but not all of it. You would need to wear a full Faraday garment head to toe all day, a blanket, hat and anything else, and it would have to be tested. Some of the Faraday clothing has been tested to not work as described. An EMF tester can show if it does.

There are usually leaks, too, with the headwear, as it does not cover your entire head or face. A hat does not block enough, the EMF waves are still reaching your face, the side of your head, your neck."

Bill: Is it practical to live with that, and does it stop everything?

Gideon: "If you lived alone, in the forest, wearing Faraday clothing top to bottom all day, with no EMF radiation present, no technology, you could reduce the impact of the nano tech upload and download link by probably 95%, but not fully.

I have been advised you must be fully underground at least five feet to entirely block it. This is not practical for most people, and over time, you are going to need to garden and do outside activities that the full Faraday garment would interfere with.

Also, you must be separate from other people affected by the nano tech, because they will be instructed to interfere with your life. Everyone around you would need to live the same way."

Bill: Well, it's totally impractical for most people. You'd have to live off the land, have enough money to

Bill: Well, it's totally impractical for most people. You'd have to live off the land, have enough money to get set up in the first place, on and on. It's a huge undertaking. Would the cabal know what you are doing?

Gideon: "Of course. They already have a list of people like this, though to my knowledge, none are actually preparing for the nano tech at all since they do not even know about it, but many live off-grid. They are still susceptible to Starlink's direct connection to the body, and at some point, they would have eaten infected food and the nano tech would be present.

For our team's mission, we do need the antidote to actually be effective. Without it, and by using these techniques I have described, there is no way we could be effective. The cabal has accounted for everything, Bill, there is no easy way out of it."

Bill: Finally, what would you say to people who are skeptical, who think A.I. is just some lines of code in a computer and has no interdimensional access? We're making shocking claims here, and while I know it's true and you know it's all real, I'm surprised at how skeptical people still are. It's like they think Trump's going to save them or the cabal isn't that powerful technologically.

Gideon: "Excellent question. I would say to look around and really think about what A.I. is doing. It has capabilities that defy conventional technology.

It is also advancing extremely fast, so what we have to today is going to be double in power and capability in probably six months, which is, of course, a planned rollout by the cabal. By 2027, publicly-available A.I. will be like having a supercomputer in your home, now imagine the next few years after. That is not normal and does not fit with the capability of existing CPUs and GPUs on the market. It cannot be explained.

Additionally, some of these reported 'mistakes' by A.I. or limitations are just the cabal keeping the 'brakes on' so the rollout is plausible. Get ready for a very different world. I think those who dismiss A.I. are in deep denial, stunning denial."

Bill: I just want to remind our readers to help us out, we are grassroots. The shadow bans are real, we've proven it, the suppression is real, so breaking through that requires effort from our readers.

Gideon: "It means something to the whistleblowers to see that, to see a positive public response, because then they feel the risks they take are not in vain.

I know they see videos from gatekeepers getting millions of views, that upsets them, knowing their information is the truth while other stories get attention. I remind them that those are gatekeeper channels, entirely promoted by the cabal with gullible people viewing them.

What is seen on YouTube is totally controlled, people are shown what the cabal wants them to see, it is hardly organic. The same applies to TikTok, Instagram, and so on, you are shown everything based on algorithms.

Actual truth-tellers are relegated to small video platforms like Odysee, maybe receiving a few hundred views a month on their videos. That is actually where to find some truth, but that takes effort and the cabal is actually fostering an incredibly lazy, low-attention span society worldwide. For a reason."

Bill: I couldn't agree more, people can't focus on anything, they can't organize, what's happened is everyone's attention is captured by social media and online nonsense.

Gideon: "They are preparing people for something called 'bionic augmentation'. It will be similar to V.R. or virtual reality, except no headset will be needed. That is a major step ahead, but a bit far in the future for us to talk about right now."

Bill: One, last question. Can this upload process be a threat to revealing who is on our team to the Obsidian system since so much more data is going through?

Gideon: "Very good question. The whistleblower said Sovereigns are protected from the mass data gathering and uploading, as we would expect. Once it detects you are Sovereign class, it turns it off. Even if it was happening, our strict security protocols would certainly serve to prevent detection.

Keep in mind, a lot of data is still encrypted, even if it is carried over Wifi. The cabal can detect a lot of what you are doing, but not everything, and if you use good security practices, it would slow down that data collection significantly. This upload project is much more focused on data being gathered in and around the person's body, their movements, their mood and so on."

Bill: I look forward to the article we're going to publish on this, because there's a lot more detail we've learned about this plan. Thank you for your time again and for this update.

Gideon: "It is my honor. God bless you, our team and our supporters reading now. I will talk to you soon."

Bill: You too. Goodnight.
